PREVENTING SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION

Fully compliant with California labor law, this course will ensure that your staff understands the breadth of issues related to their behavior in the workplace, specifically addressing the prevention of abusive conduct (bullying), sexual harassment, discrimination, and retaliation. All forms of harassment in the workplace are a serious concern for employers of all sizes. Changes in regulation mandate that all employees and leaders be trained to create a safe and productive work environment. At the successful completion of the course, proof of attendance and a certification of completion will be provided.
